Agreement pairs specialized managed care leaders in workers' comp

Nov. 30, 2015 - Wayne, PA - Genex Services, a leader in medical cost containment and disability management services, has announced its acquisition of Alpha Review Corporation, a leading provider of medical bill review for the workers' compensation market. Financial terms were not disclosed.

With this acquisition, Genex significantly strengthens its bill review footprint, complementing its expertise with targeted cost management programs, such as specialty review, extensive PPO networks and data analysis. The Alpha Review management team will remain in place and continue to operate under its brand following the transaction.

"Alpha Review is widely recognized as an outstanding bill review firm with excellent customer service and high-industry regard," said Delphia Frisch, executive vice president/COO of Genex Services. "We look forward to having the Alpha Review employees become part of our broader organization and supplementing our continuum of managed care services."

Based in Naperville, IL, Alpha Review has specialized in medical bill review services since 1995. They have become one of the premier medical bill review companies in the U.S., working with third-party administrators, insurance carriers, self-insured entities and other organizations that need assistance with medical review services.

"We are excited to extend our services by aligning with a leading managed care service company in Genex," said Mike Drevalas, Alpha Review founder and CEO. "Both companies are focused on improving the quality and timeliness of care through outstanding bill review service."

Corporate Finance Associates of Chicago served as the exclusive strategic and financial advisor to Alpha Review Corporation on the transaction.
